CLASS HISTORY

Four years ago a group of bewildered freshmen, the class of '48, started their upward climb in Portland High School under the guidance of Miss Hoerner. Our class officers were: President, Eleanore Huizenga; Vice-President, Mary Ann Fox; Secretary, Germaine Martin; Treasurer, Don Schrauben. Football, basketball, band, magazine sale, and assembly programs were a major part of this year.

Upon entering our second year of high school we carried with us little knowledge of the future. Fred Lowery was placed in command of our class under the guidance of Mr. McGregor. Other officers were: Joan Wilcox, Vice-President; Marilyn Willemin, Secretary; and Jim McCormack, Treasurer. The class participated in a dance and assembly programs. The boys were well represented in basketball, football and other sports.

Our Junior year came with the realization that we were at last of some importance in our school. Officers elected were: President, Jim McCormack; Vice-President, Fred Huizenga; Secretary, Mary Ann Fox; Treasurer, Carolyn Smith, under the sponsorship of Miss Richard. Our class sponsored several dances, the Junior Play, "The Late Mr. Early," and the J-Hop, "Stairway to the Stars," both of which were a great success. This year we won the magazine sale contest from the seniors. They were our guests at the Junior-Senior Banquet.

Finally the great day came. At long last we were seniors. Our first move was to elect the officers pictured above, with the help of our sponsor, Miss Reber. The highlight of the year was our Senior Prom, "Serenade of the Bells." The Senior Play, "Miss Smarty," was also a success. And we again won the magazine sale. The annual speaks for itself.

We eagerly look forward to the day of commencement, but also with a hidden sorrow in our hearts. We can always remember that last year in school as the most enjoyable one we had experienced.

WILL

We, the Senior Class of 1948, being of simple mind and sound body, do hereby leave with the unfortunate ones our last will and testament.

Martha Badder wills her height to Rhesa Roberts.

Vivian Buckley wills her ability to go steady for long intervals to Barbara Smith, who can't seem to make up her mind.

Shirley Carpenter wills Marvin Kelly to the girls who have three years left at P. H. S.

Joanne DuMond wills her square dancing technique to anyone who goes to Westphalia as much as she does.

Janette Fedewa wills that "Georgia Peach" to anyone who likes southern fruit.

Mary Ann Fox wills her quiet and studious manner to Allen Alexander. Guess why!

Mary Louise Gensterblum wills her manner of fast talking to anyone who wants to give a five minute speech in two minutes.

Jean Gage wills her meek and mild ways to Beverly Urie.

Esther Goodwin wills her shyness to Corky DuMond.

Eleanore Huizenga wills her job as receptionist in the dentist's office to Margaret Wooden.

Joan Keesler wills her way of taking corners while driving to Miss Reber.

Marcella Leik wills her temper to Laura Myers.

Rosalie Leik wills her job of coaching certain girls in Shorthand to anyone who has the same ability next year.

Germaine Martin wills her ease on the motor bike to Elizabeth Kransz.

Donna Mellstead wills her trips to Grand Rapids every week to anyone who thinks it's fun.

Marguerite Moran wills her job as Editor of the Portlight to Marilyn Richards. We know you can do it, Marilyn.

Jean Noren wills her friendship with Bob Kransz to Henrietta Howe, who lives in the same neighborhood.

Joan Pedersen wills Kenny Goodman to anyone who can catch him.

Joanna Pline wills her job as waitress to anyone who likes people as well as she does.

Phyllis Price wills her job of receiving the absent lists from Casper Shafer to Julaine Webert.

Jean Pung wills her habit of getting her dates mixed to anyone who can keep them straight.

Betty Rock wills her third hour note and letter writing to Annette Lay.

Geraldine Schaefer wills her salesmanship ability in Franks 10c Store to Gladys Trierweiler.

Maxine Schramm wills her seventh hours for chewing gum to Mary Ellen Fox.

Carolyn Smith wills her way of getting by with ones in Shorthand to Pauline Schuller.

Janette Smith wills her natural curly hair to Lyle Wheeler to eliminate his putting them up every night.

Mary Ann Smith wills her quietness in school to Dick Willemin.

Mary Lou Smith wills her natural red hair to Shirley Stump, who seems to like changes.

Joan Spitzley wills her easy smile to Nancy Green.

Barbara Stiffler wills her good-looking man to anyone who thinks she can get him.

Norma Jean Taylor wills her graceful walk to Ruby Whitacre.

Dolores Thoma wills her title of the shortest girl in the senior glass to Doris VanAmburg, who we think should hold the title next year.

WILL (Continued)

Rose Mary Tichvon wills her devilish behavior to Elaine Spohn.

Dolores Ward wills her way of getting around to Rosie Vroman, who seems to be stuck with one guy.

Jean Ward wills her hair ribbons to Marilyn Mellstead to add to her collection.

Anna Mae Wheeler wills her cackle to Robert Klein.

Pat Whitcraft wills her Hot Lunch supervision to Joan Selden.

Joan Wilcox wills her drawing ability to Larry Iler, who can't draw a straight line even with a ruler.

Marilyn Willemin wills her yelling technique to Joan Haley, who usually acts bored at a game.

Richard Babbitt wills his ability to go steady with one girl to Johnny West, who is never seen with a girl.

David Bandfield wills his deep Humphrey Bogart voice to Alice Hoppes.

Charles DeVries wills his "Chevie" to Emmett Watson, who could get around better (as if he doesn't get around enough now).

Hubert Fandel wills his "I don't care" attitude to Ann Lakin.

Marvin Fedewa wills his extra credits to anyone in the Junior Class who will be in need of them next year.

Alton Hartwick wills his letter writing to that certain "Arleen" to Larry Fineout.

Fred Huizenga wills his wavy locks to Dick Arnold, who can't seem to get the twist of the "Toni Home Permanent."

Clarence Irrer wills his shyness to Bill Reed, who doesn't know what the word means.

Malcolm Knapp wills his build to Warren Taylor, who is just the opposite.

Fred Lowrey wills his athletic ability to Coral Babbitt.

James McCormack wills his unruly hair to Carl Schalow.

Frank McGowan wills his exercise on the golf course to anyone else interested in developing muscles.

Gene Myers wills his job of playing Santa Claus to the kindergarten to Harold Fisher. Don't let them get you down, Harold.

Richard Oakes wills his job of Senior Class president to anyone foolhardy enough to want it.

Don Oliphant wills his nickname "Sleepy" to Tom Buck, who will never be able to look and act the part as well as Don does, but then, who could?

Gerald Peabody wills his misfortune of getting caught for everything he does to Dick Mauren.

Darrell Pennington wills his manly physique to Ralph Merrill.

Paul Pilkington wills his good marks to Nancy Edgar.

Don Schrauben wills his shyness away from women (around here at any rate) to his brother Bill, who doesn't even try to shy away from them.

Herman Schrauben wills his expression "Betcha Buck" to anyone who's got a buck.

Roger Smith wills his job in the Eagle grocery store to anyone as fond of Eagle as he is.

Robert Snow wills his swing to anyone who needs one on their porch.

Earl TenEyck wills his job of manager of sports to the water boys whom we think can carry on the work.

Glen Tucker wills his job at the Bowling Alley to the Seal boys.

Jake Visser wills his way of perturbing Miss Vanderleest in 4th hour government class to Ruth Almy.

GIFTATORY

Richard Babbitt—Another picture of Doris to add to the collection you already have in your car.

Martha Badder—Small Bible to start in with at the institution.

David Bandfield—A guide on traffic rules.

Vivian Buckley—A driver's license so you can drive that Chevrolet.

Shirley Carpenter—Cornmeal, to always keep that Angora sweater white.

Charles DeVries—A hammer to start you off on your career as a contractor.

Joanne DuMond—A free pass for the Y. M. C. A. every Saturday night.

Hubert Fandel—Here's that gas pipe attachment missing from your motorcycle. Take it easy, now.

Janette Fedewa—Bubble gum, for never a dull moment.

Marvin Fedewa—A chair, to be sure of that seat in Congress.

Mary Ann Fox—A mechanical pencil to help you along on your new office job.

Jean Gage—A bell, Jean, so we will know when you are around.

Mary L. Gensterblum—Some wave lotion to start you out on your career as a beautician.

Esther Goodwin—Since you have always been so bashful, here's a book on "How to Get Acquainted."

Alton Hartwick—Stationery so you can continue writing to that certain girl.

Eleanore Huizenga—A ticket to take a cruise to make up for the Senior trip you missed.

Fred Huizenga—A music degree for all the singing you tried to do in Miss Reber's room.

Clarence Irrer—Test tube to remind you of the day when you were lab assistant to Mr. Pernert.

Joan Keesler—Play book to remind you of the Junior and Senior plays.

Malcolm Knapp—Reducing pills to help you get that Charles Atlas look.

Marcella Leik—A check for a year's tuition for nurses training at the hospital of your choice.

Rosalie Leik—A typing pin for 60 words a minute. We knew you could do it, Toots.

Fred Lowery—Book on child psychology so you won't have as much trouble with your students as they had with you.

Germaine Martin—Handcuffs to take care of your brother when you want to take the car.

James McCormack—A duck to remind you of your own little Muddy Margaret.

Frank McGowan—Deed to the Golf Course. With Maggie as caddie, you ought to have a lot of customers.

Donna Mellstead—A lock of red hair to remind you of that red-headed fellow.

Marguerite Moran—A little wagon to make that job of caddie easier.

Gene Myers—Truck to carry your plaster in.

Jean Noren—Sketch pad for sketches of those beautiful dress designs. (Don't forget, no more long skirts.)

Richard Oakes—A small bottle of something—we shouldn't say what—but for the satisfaction of some suspicious people, it's only milk.

Don Oliphant—A football to remind you of the times you kicked one around at P. H. S.

Gerald Peabody—A badge to identify you on your first factory job.

GIFTATORY (Continued)

Joan Pedersen—A lasso to round up that certain feller.

Darrell Penington—Advertisement for sending away for muscle building device (as if he needed it).

Paul Pilkington—A piece of wood to whittle away your time when you're in college.

Joanna Pline—A box of curlers to start you out on your job as beauty operator.

Phyllis Price—Freckle remover, Phyl. We don't really mean it, we think they're cute.

Jean Pung—A rope—to hold your man. We know you can catch him, or them, as a matter of fact.

Betty Rock—A calendar to help you remember to stay home that night a certain fellow comes to call.

Geraldine Schaefer—An eraser, Gerry, to replace those you wore out in typing class.

Maxine Schramm—A shorthand book to continue your studies in business college.

Don Schrauben—Clock to make sure you get up to work on time (if you have a job).

Herman Schrauben—A pass to get back in Government class to make sure of that diploma.

Carolyn Smith—A traffic ticket for the many times you should have got one.

Janette Smith—A pass to bowl free as often as you like—for getting the highest score ever heard of in Portland Bowling Alleys.

Mary Ann Smith—A letter of introduction to the J. L. Hudson Store to help you get a job.

Mary Lou Smith—A box of Dr. Scholl's foot-ease to keep your feet in shape for those Friday night dances.

Roger Smith—A lease to the Locker Plant in Eagle. You've worked hard enough to earn it.

Bob Snow—A Spanish dictionary to help you at your new job as interpreter.

Joan Spitzley—Income Tax blank for you to fill out for all that money you are going to make.

Barbara Stiffler—A book on "How to Be a Perfect Housewife."

Norma Taylor—Hair shampoo to keep your lovely red hair in shining condition.

Earl TenEyck—A news clipping to remind you of the time you were manager of the Basketball team the year they got as far as the Regional Tournaments.

Dolores Thoma—Stilts, to help keep up with the rest of the world.

Rose Mary Tichvon—A golden glove to remember that certain boxer that seems to have caught your eye.

Glen Tucker—A spark plug to keep that Ford running.

Jake Visser—A new car, your brother's can't take it much longer.

Dolores Ward—A memo pad to keep track of all those boy friends, we can't.

Jean Ward—A little polka-dot ribbon to take the place of the big one you wear.

Anna Mae Wheeler—A scholarship to attend the college of your choice. Someone in the class has to be smart.

Pat Whitcraft—A marriage certificate to save you the two dollar fee.

Joan Wilcox—Here's a book with the answers to the Civil Service exam you are planning to take.

Marilyn Willemin—Tractor, to help that certain someone on the farm.

Carole Wilson—Another class ring to exchange with someone else, in case your is already lent.

PROPHECY

Upon looking up the Class of 1948 ten years later, we were surprised to discover:

Richard Babbitt has broken the world's record for running 7½ miles in twenty minutes.

Martha Badder has joined her sister Lillie at the Bible Institute in New York.

David Bandfield has taken over his father's business but we hope he has improved his driving.

Vivian Buckley is now assistant manager at the Ben Franklin Store. It was a long, hard struggle, wasn't it?

Shirley Carpenter is mistress of ceremonies at the County Fair, assisted by Martin Kelly, who is now her husband.

Charles DeVries is now a big-time contractor. His fine work has made Lansing the suburb of Eagle.

Joanne DuMond is a professional seamstress in the big little town of Mulliken.

Hubert Fandel has taken over the Schlitz Brewery in Milwaukee and is giving all his former classmates free handouts.

Janette Fedewa is now editor of True Confessions Magazine. It took a lot of reading, didn't it, Janette?

Marvin Fedewa has taken his seat in Congress.

Mary Ann Fox is now Mrs. Don Thelen. They live on a prosperous farm near Portland.

We see Jean Gage running a super service station—her specialty, pumping up tires.

Mary L. Gensterblum is the first well-known woman auctioneer. The last we heard she was the tobacco auctioneer on the Hit Parade.

Esther Goodwin is head cook at the Pantlind Hotel in Grand Rapids, which is now under the management of one of our graduates of '47.

Alton Hartwick has found the woman of his dreams but as far as we know has not yet popped the question.

Eleanore Huizenga was finally talked into dentistry; she is one of the finest in the country.

Fred Huizenga is now running his own vacuum cleaner shop and is sending his employees out to demonstrate that new Airway Vacuum. (Plug.)

Clarence Irrer is champion hog caller of Ingham County.

Joan Keesler is in charge of playground supervision at the Blind School in Lansing.

Malcolm Knapp has taken over the "Happy Hank" program. He always could get along with children.

James McCormack is master of ceremonies on the Quiz Kids Show.

Frank McGowan is now jockey and is riding the famous horse Ossault, Jr., in the Kentucky Derby.

Marcella Leik is a famous tight rope walker in the Barnum & Bailey Circus.

Rosalie (Toots) Leik is now manufacturing Tootsie Rolls.

Fred Lowery is now athletic coach at Western University.

Germaine Martin is running a boarding house in Grand Rapids especially for men.

Donna Mellstead is chief matron at the Children's Mental Institution in Grand Rapids.

Marguerite Moran has taken over the Dorothy Dix column in the State Journal.

Gene Myers has taken over his father's business as a "Plastered Plasterer."

Jean Noren is an exclusive dress designer at M. G. M. Studios in Hollywood.

Richard Oakes has been taking the cure for insomnia, brought on by his worries over the Class of '48.

Don Oliphant has signed a peace treaty with Carl Graft settling the feud over that blonde in Lansing. Carl consented to let him take her out once a week.

PROPHECY (Continued)

Gerald Peabody has now moved away and lost all contact with civilization. We are disappointed that he did not keep in contact with his classmates.

Joan Pedersen is a famous brain doctor at Sparrow Hospital and is following the theory "You ain't got the brains you were born with."

Darrell Pennington is now modeling. Latest Flash: The well-known American Model has just been chosen cover boy of 1958.

Paul Pilkington has been nominated by the people of Portland as their candidate for the President of the United States.

Joanna Pline has been promoted from errand girl to secretary to Miss Wilcox, who has retired and is now in the lumber business.

Phyllis Price is still competing with Marilyn Mellstead over Bob Smith. Will this never end?

Jean Pung has entered the Bathing Beauty Contest of 1958. Don't those red woolens get in the way, Jean, or have you discarded them?

Betty Rock is still in hot pursuit of that certain guy from Pewamo.

Geraldine Schaefer is still looking for a guy that resembles a certain guy who broke her heart.

Maxine Schramm has taken Lulu McConnel's place on the radio show "It Pays to Be Ignorant."

Don Schrauben has finally gotten a job, but is still always absent on those Friday mornings. Still shooting good pool, Don?

Herman Schrauben has taken the heart of every American girl as No. 1 crooner of 1958.

Carolyn Smith has opened her own beauty salon (saloon). Specialty: Dyeing hair red.

After ten long years of searching, Janette Smith has finally found out the name of a certain soldier who was looking for her on a certain Saturday night.

Mary Ann Smith is running a school and teaching pupils how to develop dimples.

Mary Lou Smith is now champion square dance caller and is now calling at the Friday night dances at Westphalia.

Roger Smith is running his own locker plant and is wrapping and putting out more meat than any other town on the map.

Robert Snow is interpreter at the Embassy in Mexico City.

Joan Spitzley holds the title of the World's Champion Typist and just think, she got her start at P. H. S.

Barbara Stiffler has helped Bob build Sunoco Station into the biggest business this side of Grand Ledge.

Norma Taylor is sharing her secrets with other women on how to keep slim.

Earl TenEyck has his own football team at Jackson Prison and they're right on top (of Jackson Prison).

Dolores Thoma is still looking for a guy as short as she is.

Rose Marie Tichvon is sitting on the boss' knee as secretary to the best known undertaking firm in Grand Rapids.

Glen Tucker has his diploma from Alcatraz and is trying to swim ashore.

Jake Visser has opened his own pool room and has a back room for illegal sale of liquor.

Dolores Ward is understudy for Linda Darnell in the reproduction of "Forever Amber."

Jean Ward is in California running one of the biggest orange groves in that state.

Anna Mae Wheeler is now taking Miss Wilcox's place (who has retired) at P. H. S.

Pat Whitcraft is pushing a baby carriage followed by several other little—Vromans.

Joan Wilcox is assistant to Walt Disney. We always knew you'd get your name in the paper one way or another.

Marilyn Willemin has finally graduated from "soda jerk" to "chief cook and bottle washer" at the Stump Mansion.

Carole Wilson is an air hostess on the U. S. Clipper to the moon.

VILLAGE OF PORTLAND

REMEMBER WHEN?

Our class numbered nearly 100.

Phyllis Price ate fire crackers and broke out with bangs.

Herman Schrauben and Doris VanAmburg were "that way."

Don Schrauben went on dates—with girls!

Vivian Buckley and Carl Graft were steadies.

Anna Mae Wheeler didn't get A's.

Barb Stiffler got a parking ticket.

Joan Wilcox wasn't going with Dick.

Dolores Ward didn't go steady.

Rose Mary Tichvon despised boys.

Carolyn Smith started going to Westphalia.

Marguerite Moran and Dick Oakes were going steady.

Marilyn Willemin and Germaine Martin met each other at the door of the hospital—one in—one out.

Joan Pedersen had all the boys ga-ga.

Esther Goodwin made a long speech.

Miss Wilcox taught only Algebra and General Math.

Pete Myers was small.

How the girls used to chase Fred Huizenga.

Don Oliphant and Patty Whitcraft were steadies.

We had to play fotball by day.

That certain hayride of that certain Hallowe'en night

Jim Nowak was inaugurated Vice-President of the Student Council.

Dick Babbitt held his own with the soprano voice in the Senior play.

Clarence Irrer sent Jean Noren a valentine.

Barbara Smith got a diamond from Alger Daggett.

THE EIGHTH GRADE

Preparatory to entering high school, the eighth grade had several teachers instead of one alone. Mr. Husbeck was home room teacher, Mrs. Shay had the arithmetic, Mrs. Matthews taught English and vocal music, while Mr. Pernert had charge of the physical education class. Carol Traynick was our reporter for the Portlight.

In April the Junior High boys gave a minstrel show, "The Newsboys and the Bootblacks." And the girls participated in a pretty Musical in May.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council of Portland High School is a member of the National Association of Student Councils.

At the beginning of the year the Student Council purchased athletic equipment needed for the noon activity program. This organization also sponsored the Basketball Queen Contest, giving the entire proceeds to the Cheerleaders to help pay for their new uniforms.

At the Honor Assembly in May the Student Council presented student scholarship, activity, and citizenship awards.

BAND

The Band this year finally raised enough money to buy their new uniforms. In the fall they raffled a rug and sponsored two bake sales. The fall concert was given free to the public in appreciation of their help towards the uniforms. The Donkey Basketball game was sponsored by the Band. The Olivet Festival was held April 28 and the Spring Concert here at school, May 7. Something new was started when the Band exchanged Assembly programs with Sunfield.

FOOTBALL

The Red Raiders, under the direction of Coaches Pernert and Husbeck enjoyed a successful season, winning 7, tieing 1, and losing 1. The team played 5 conference games, losing only to Dimondale, to finish second in the Tri-C Conference. At the season's end Don Oliphant was elected honorary captain, and was also selected for the conference team along with Bernie Goodwin and Dick Arnold. Portland members on the All-Conference second team were Tucker, Schrauben, Lowery and Reed.

The team and the school appreciate playing on the new athletic field under the lights at night games, which drew greatly increased attendance from the community.

BASKETBALL

Portland High Cagers finished a very successful season. Under the direction of their new Coach, Ed Husbeck, they went through League play undefeated for the second straight year, winning nine straight league games. Their season's record of thirteen wins and two losses was the same as last year's team.

The team went to St. Johns for the state district tournaments. They defeated Ovid 50 to 38 the first night and Elsie 59 to 44 the second night. Moving up to the regionals at Mt. Pleasant, they were edged out in an overtime game with Edmore by a score of 42 to 37.
